 - Logistics of the event? — There will be RSVP but if a students pass by and wants to participate, they can do that too
 - It could get political, how would you manage it? We will be volunteering to keep this in check.
 - Art can be politically symbolic too? — We are trying to have it non-partisan as possible
 - Who is going to decide a certain thing is offensive? – Encouraging murals like doodles rather than something symbolic
 - May be we can do it cultural rather than political, we cannot possibly control what people think — A lot of cultural centers already do events and stuff like this, it can be get repetitive
 - The event is identity in the sense of religion and believes or is it something with open expression?
